Electronic cigarette users praise their smoking experience for many reasons. Here's why:

☛ Smoking an electric cigarette produces vapors. It doesn't produce smoke. The electronic cigarette works by combining heat and a sort of mist to provide a smoke-like experience. Because it is not actually "smoking," the act of using an electronic cigarette is called "vaping." It's a good deal what is produced by an electronic cigarette is in fact a vapor that mimics the classic experience of smoking "without some of the downfalls. With so many vapor "tastes" available, the electronic cigarette is poised to become a flavorful experience even for those who did not previously smoke cigarettes.

☛ Electronic cigarettes can be customized to match your personal taste. Sleek models exist that look like designer pens. Others channel a modern vibe and mimic a one-piece cylinder design. Since the electronic cigarette is actually just a vehicle for the vaping experience, you will only have to purchase vapor solutions. You'll use the cartridge over and over. Slight differences in cartridges abound, but all of them work in the same basic way. To select the one that is right for you, read customer reviews and choose a brand that seems to fit both your style and your perceived amount of vaping use.
