

Article Side

Great Pranks for the Road by Randy Orton

Article published on July 16th 2012 | Shopping

Here are some rib-tickling pranks to liven up your next road trip. Road trips are a great way to enjoy some time with friends and family. Unfortunately, most people end up having to deal with more than a couple of rude or obnoxious fellow drivers. Here are some great pranks to get your own back.

Oops, guess you shouldn't have parked there!

So what do you do when somebody cuts you off or insists on sounding his horn all the time? Simple, don't get mad, get even. Allow the people to pass and wait for them to stop at a rest stop. Chances are you'll find their car unattended while they take a snack or toilet break.

Here's your chance! Use some fake parking tickets to give them a few stressful moments. These cool and funny parking tickets look exactly like the real ones, and will fool even policemen at first glance. Best of all, they have several hilariously offensive messages printed on them. Spend several amusing minutes with your friends and family, as you decide which one best applies to your victim. Choose between sidesplitting options like "driving in a big, ugly, crappy car," "taking up two spaces (JERK)," "operating under the influence of rap music," and the timeless classic: "mentally handicapped driver!"

Now casually walk up to their car and slip it onto the windshield. Make sure nobody is watching; you don't want to deal with an angry jerk! Find a convenient place to sit and watch the fun. Your prank victim is sure to spend several stressful minutes sweating it out before they read the offensive messages and get a rude jolt. Mission accomplished! The look on the person's face is sure to leave you and your friends snickering for the rest of your drive.

I swear it wasn't me officer!

Feeling a bit more evil? Why not use some wickedly funny bumper tickets to get revenge and entertain yourself as well as your fellow drivers. Prank bumper tickets come with several funny and embarrassing mottos. You can, for instance, choose a bumper ticket that says "paycuts for cops!" You can be sure the offending driver is going to get pulled over sooner or later! Have a great time on the rest of your journey imagining various comical scenarios involving the victim and a highway patrol. All the prank stickers are magnetic, which means there will be absolutely no permanent damage to your victim's car. Want more options? Be sure to check online to find a whole range of bumper stickers.

To conclude, pranks are a great way to blow off steam when on the road. Always have a couple of pranks handy in your car and you can drive with perfect calm, knowing that you're well prepared for all those jerks you meet on the road.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/shopping-articles/great-pranks-for-the-road.htm> - Article Side

Randy Orton - About Author:

Looking for a great pranks to play on unsuspecting friends and colleagues? Be sure to visit Prankplace.com for the a largest collection of bumper stickers, funny t-shirts, gag gifts, and pranks.

Article Keywords:

pranks, bumper stickers, funny costume

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!