Hi ,guy, when you page through the latest fashion magazine, skimming over the masterpieces of various international reputable brands, you may easily find that the latest design concept is vintage. Believe it or not , you can just search the latest fashion show of Louis Vuitton on Youtube . Indeed, vintage style has set off a new rush in the past few years. For your forthcoming wedding ceremony , if you donâ€™t mind ,why not take vintage style into consideration even there are various options for you .Here I would like to mention is that at permanent times, the world has stepped into a hectic, fast paced period , take the aid of classicism , hark back to a simper situation, make everything slow down , enjoy the beauty around, retrospect the niceness in the past. Vintage wedding cards, setting as clue for your wedding ceremony ,will inform your guests what they can look forward to your big day. Hence, you should learn how to prepare for your vintage wedding invitations .Here comes with my advices.

Before you start to choose vintage wedding invitations, first take your time to think it over that the era your wedding ceremony is going to encompass. Thatâ€™s quite important. The trend and the design may be diversified in different periods. So you have various options to choose from .At present ,the most popular periods are 1930s, 1940s, 1950s.For example, gravure intaglio printing style is quite in, while in 1940s, people would like those wedding invitations with delicate borders. Deciding which time period that your wedding ceremony is going to embody will function as a compass for the subsequent work.

After you have decide the era theme of your ceremony, what you need to do is pick the right color for your wedding cards. Thatâ€™s not quite difficult job. But what I want to remind you is that compared with modern wedding invitations , the vintage style is more cautious in color scheme. For modern wedding stationery ,obtrusive colors are widely used while for the vintage style, the designer prefer to use pastels. If you stick to use bolder colors in the style, thatâ€™s not amiss. But pay attention to the visual effect and the harmony of the whole design, otherwise your endeavor will turn into a mess.

Furthermore, you should also consider the crafting and printing technology of your vintage wedding invitations . It is obvious that those goods made from an engraved block will look more classical, but you should also notice the truth that wedding invitations with complicated crafting may add the prime cost. If you donâ€™t worry about your budget , you can choose what you want ,otherwise I suggest you pick the digital printing style. Though digital printing vintage wedding invitations look less professional, but at least they are cheap and look not bad.

Picking vintage wedding invitations is a good knowledge. There are also many details you should pay attention to. Good luck with you.
