The Remote Control Ferrari f430 by Carolyn Ann Clayton

If youâ€™re looking for a great remote control sports car then the Ferrari f430 is the one for you! Depending on the exact model that you get, your car will be capable of and consist of many different things including:

â€¢ A Front Nudge Bar that helps to prevent bonnet damage

â€¢ Rear wheel driving

â€¢ Front and rear suspension

â€¢ Steering and throttle trim

â€¢ Impressive realistic details

â€¢ Impressive styling

â€¢ A Fiorano racing design

â€¢ Four-way steering (Left and right, and forward and reverse)

There is so much more to this car and if youâ€™re looking for a car that you can make alterations to then you should look at the M14 range because youâ€™re able to change the body shell and even remove or upgrade the radio. I remember when I had a R.C car over twenty five years ago; it was nowhere near advanced as the Ferrari f430 which in its own right is a masterpiece and one of the fastest remote controlled cars around.

Acceleration

We all want a remote controlled car that goes fast and responds to the instructions we give it. The Ferrari f430â€™s that are on a scale of 1:16 are all fitted with what is called â€˜Feature digital technologyâ which means that when you tell them to accelerate they do and even if you want then to accelerate away at top speed, well they will do that too!

There have been a few people saying the Ferrari f430 has not always lived up to their expectations and I want to give you the opportunity to see for yourself what they have said so you can make up your own mind:

â€¢ There is no interior

â€¢ The doors do not open â€¢ The controller they received was different to the one in the picture

The car is not designed to specifically have an interior, when you see the Ferrari f430 for real, it is often on a race track zooming along. The manufacturers have concentrated on the performance of your car rather than the interior design. If the interior was added to, the weight could impair the speed of the car.

From time to time a car will not work and should this ever be the case, then you should return your car to wherever it is you bought it from and ask for a refund.

Most sellers tell you if the design of the controller is different to the one shown in the picture, so you should always be aware that you may get a slightly different car; if there is a specific design you are after then you need to make sure you buy from someone who will sell you the one you are looking for, sometimes the only way to get the exact car you want is to buy it from a store rather than online.
