Roger Hamilton and the Rules That He Devised by Corwin Smith

Article published on January 18th 2012 | Success

Roger Hamilton is one of those individuals who are just not ready to accept everything that has been doled out to them in the name of their own benefit. And the reason is that he himself has been a victim of such a feeling when he started his career as a social entrepreneur. He tried his level best to stay well within the current system of economics that he had been brought up in and that stayed well embossed in the very own system of Roger. All the moves that he made, and all the decisions that he took were in the light of the education that he had received right from his childhood, but the results that those efforts showed were not at all what Roger had expected. He lost somewhere around $130 million and lost everything that he had including the faith that he had in the system.

And this was a watershed movement in the life of Roger Hamilton. This digression from the system that was presently controlling the rotation of money in the present economy led him to believe that there had to be another system just waiting to be discovered by somebody who was ready to go against the tide and find a new system that would really be all and end all of all the financial problems that the individual is facing while he is on his way to earn wealth. And Roger did exactly that. He went on to discover the system that would begin a new chapter in the lives of the people who are ready to move ahead in their lives with all the vigor and passion that could exist.

And the system that Roger Hamilton discovered is based on the inculcation of nature in the art of wealth creation. This system of wealth creation is based on the fact that the all powerful nature cannot just be ignored by man while he is devising the laws that would rule the existing system of finance. The nature has to be inculcated in each and every step that the individual would take in the realm of wealth creation.

But Roger Hamilton just did not stop there. He encapsulated his discoveries in the various theories like wealth dynamics and wealth spectrum. And one of the best things that Roger did was that he devised a test known as the wdprofile test that would tell you the true personality type that you are. And once the true personality of the individual is discovered then it would become almost a childâ€™s play for the individual to make sure the career that he should be choosing.
