Sharp's Audio-Visual is the largest and most diversified audio-visual company in Canada and we have been your go-to company for all your audio visual needs for years. Now as technology is making our world ever smaller and more accessible, video conferencing is quickly becoming the most cost effective way to do business over long distances.

It wasn't that long ago that the success of a businessman would be measured by how many miles he covered or how much time he spent on the road juggling his responsibilities including seeing clients, attending industry meetings and conferences and communicating with his employees in other centres. With our ability to provide video conferencing both in Calgary and Vancouver, it is much easier to be virtually present at all your important meetings without leaving your office. And to go one step further, now you don't even need to leave your home.

Gone are the days of expensive travel costs, airfare, hotels and meals on the road required to get you from your Calgary office to important committee meetings or regional manager meetings in office in other parts of the country. For a fraction of the price we will set you up to use video conferencing to stay in touch with your Vancouver staff. Or if your desk is in an office in Vancouver, you can use video conferencing in Calgary to put on a training session to your staff sitting around a boardroom table in that city.

Trade conferences have always been the best way for an industry leader to stay ahead of the trends in the industry and now you can attend presentations of product or services without leaving the office.

If you are simply looking for a clearer means of communicating ideas with your clients, using video conferencing from your Calgary or Vancouver office is a better option than the telephone. Eye contact and body language are key to creating great relationships with clients and now you can feel more connected regardless of where your business takes you.

Sharp's list of audio visual manufacturers is a venerable who's who of the industry. Simply choose your provider and one of our over 300 experienced and knowledgeable staff will help you get on your way. We are proud to be working with our partner, Polycom Calgary to provide top of the line equipment and service. If you have business in Vancouver, we can help you there too, our partnership includes Polycom Vancouver and the full range of video conferencing services are also available in high quality in that city.

Whether you are looking for a video conference solution that brings your world to you, or you are taking your business on the road, Sharp Audio Visual experienced and knowledgeable staff of 300 individuals offers quick and productive solutions to our customers.
