Article published on December 12th 2011 | Technology

There are numerous resources available on the Internet, today, and those pertaining to UID and MIL-STD-130 are abundant. However, there are some providers that have worked hard to make helpful and informative resources available to anyone seeking MIL-STD-130 compliance currently. One such company is Jet City Laser, Inc. Visit their informative Web site at, www.uid2go.com, and view a wide range of useful details regarding just about every aspect of modern UID applications.

As far as specifications go, itâ€™s important to seek out the actual MIL-STD-130 guidelines as mandated by the U.S. Department of Defense. Jet City Laser has made this very easy and posts links to many of these important documents. Additionally, they have a complete section of their Web site that features topics for furthering your UID education.

The â€œWhatâ€™s Newâ€• section will provide excellent detail on many of the technological advancemer that have happened in regards to UID equipment; including scanners, marking nameplates, and other relevant innovations. Review the headlines on this page for breaking news within this industry. Browse their project gallery for interesting excerpts of challenging applications for a wide range of corporations; including the American Basketball League. Itâ€™s easy to select various pictures of marks on a wide range of substrates by using the navigation pane on the left-hand margin of the page.

No matter how challenging the application the experts at Jet City Laser, Inc. have the experience and knowledge to help you develop a fully compliant MIL-STD-130 solution for your production. In fact, they have been leading pioneers in 2-D bar code technology, along with ID Integration, Inc., since 1994. Now, they are held as the authority in production of two-dimensional bar coded and compliant data for a wide range of specifications. These include; ISO 9001:2008 and AS9100B quality certifications, as well as the Air Transport Association's SPEC 2000 labels, and all MIL-STD-130 applications.

Get a head start on your UID education today, by spending some time browsing the site of these innovative experts for Military Spec applications. They are a trusted provider of a wide range of identification and verification solutions in some of the worldâ€™s toughest industries. Contact them today, for more information. Experience the difference that 100% quality control can bring to your bottom line and start learning more from the seasoned professionals at Jet City Laser, Inc. today.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/technology-articles/where-to-get-a-head-start-on-a-good-uid-education.htm - Article Side

Id-integration - About Author:
Jet City Laser manufactures UID registry, a MIL-STD-130, UID marking, UID namplates & also offers other a UID services. Customers receive verification reports for each UID barcode, assuring 100% compliance to the quality standards of MIL-STD-130.

Article Keywords:
MIL-STD-130, MIL-STD-130 marking, UID, MIL SPEC 129, UID registry, UID marking, MIL-STD-129, UID labels, iuid

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!