What You Should Probably Expect from a DUI by Kellee Parker

Article published on April 23rd 2012 | Teen

When you go out for a night out on the town, the last thing you would expect to find yourself with at the end of the night is a DUI, but if you do get busted driving after you've had a little too much to drink, you have to be realistic about the situation and accept it for what it is. You can't change the past, so in order to make the most of a potentially horrific situation; you should waste no time in researching your options and planning your defense for when you come face to face with a judge in the courtroom.

Even in the best of cases, you are still facing some sort of consequences, but as opposed to the alternative, which can cost people their lives, that is a punishment that you should accept and come to terms with, rather than dwelling on it and feeling sorry for yourself. Even if you are at fault though, that is no reason to just roll over and accept whatever the court has in store for you.

The smart thing to do is to consult with an experienced DUI lawyer in Orange County and formulate the best defense to ensure that whatever punishment you end up with is enough to satisfy the court without having any outstanding effect on your life once everything is said and done.

You can expect to have your license suspended, at the very least, but you should also be prepared for community service, and possibly a fine, even in the simplest of cases. In more severe cases, the sentence usually reflects the intensity of the incident itself, but if you were simply pulled over and deemed under the influence, you don't need to worry about any of the more severe punishments.

Regardless, having a reputable Irvine DUI attorney at your side will only benefit you, and when it comes to pleading your case and working within the parameters of the law, there is no better defense. You can't be expected to know it all, and being caught unprepared can have very serious ramifications on your case, but an experienced attorney will be prepared for anything you might experience.

If you find yourself in this situation, the sooner you act, the more prepared you will be, and if you can convince the judge that you have learned from your mistake and accept your sentence with humility and understanding, it won't be long before all of this is behind you, and you can move on with the rest of your life.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/teen-articles/what-you-should-probably-expect-from-a-dui.htm - Article Side

Kellee Parker - About Author:
Orange County DUI attorney Parker has been qualified to administer Standardized Field Sobriety Tests by the National Highway Traffic and Safety Administration (N.H.T.S.A.). Additionally, Newport Beach DUI attorney Parker is a member of the National College for DUI Defense, California DUI Lawyers Association, National Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers, and California Attorneys for Criminal Justice.

Article Keywords:
DUI lawyer in Orange County, Irvine DUI lawyer

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!