Glimpses of Royal India with Palace on Wheels by Alisa Ray

Article published on April 17th 2012 | Travel

“Oh Wow!! These are the first two words that spontaneously came out of my mouth after I entered into the royal carriage of “Palace on Wheels”™. Suddenly I asked my fellow traveler to tuck me into my arm so that I could come out of my dream. The greeting by the members of the train was no doubt regal and grand, but the interior of the train surely makes you hold your breath. While you are on a tour to India, a country famous worldwide for its contrasting colors, you expect everything to be full of merriment and royalty, and this train meets to your every expectation.”

While expressing the excitement of the journey, one of the travelers quoted the above mentioned lines. These lines beautifully present the magical charm that this royal train journey spells on its travelers. You may have spend 8 days into traveling by this train only, but your heart will lure for more and more days of journey to cover. This luxury train journey covers the golden triangle tour circuit in its 7 nights and 8 days of jaunt along with some of the most prominent tourist destinations in Rajasthan.

Books always glamorize the history, but experiencing a place practically may have changed your opinion. The royal train journey on Palace on Wheels will make you believe the folklores of the country. Each of the carriage of this luxury train is designed to present a glimpse of the lifestyle of the royal people of the bygone era. You feel special and delighted when every moment in the course of your journey you get a truly royal treatment.

Whether it’s the miniature paintings on walls or the intense mirror works, the color of the wagons or the amenities offered to the guests, each of the detailing is done by the highly trained professionals so that you can savor a journey as never before. Named after different clans of the Rajputana rulers, each carriage of Palace on Wheels comes equipped with modern facilities without disturbing the mood of the original carriages.

If we can list out prime reasons to visit India, then its food variety would surely be a reason among them. This royal train has two sumptuous restaurants that offer you a variety of Indian, Continental and Oriental foods. When a traditional Indian meal is presented before you in designer cutlery, you can’t control your taste buds from having a bite of these mouthwatering items. In the evening have a chat with your fellow travelers in the bar while enjoying fine glasses of wine.

Globalization has impacted India to a great extent and now she has become a great seat for trade and commerce. Thus millions of business travelers visit this country every year. In Palace on Wheels, there is a meeting area where business travelers can arrange their private meets. The availability of technologically advanced conveniences makes each of your meet all the more successful.

A tour to India riding the royal chariot called Palace on Wheels give you enough reasons to visit this incredible land time and again. It may simple be a journey to different parts of the country, but the memories of this jaunt will remain as a fresh flower in the bouquet of your memories.
