The Beautiful Benodorm by Frank Thomas

Article published on December 5th 2011 | Travel

Tired of waking up at the sound of the alarm clock and walking through the concrete jungle? Want to escape to the natural serenity of what Mother Nature has to offer? Then without further a due, hop on a plane, destination Benidorm of Spain.

If you are fond of the sweet music of water fall and enjoy taking a dip in water then Alga falls is the place for you. It is considered as a tourist heaven. Here you will find crystal water surrounded by trees and flowers. Spending time in one of the many natural pools is a must when you are in Benodorm.

Another natural wonder in Benodorm would be the Canelobre Caves. The entrance to the cave is located 700 meters up on one of the sides of the mountain. The entrance allows the visitors a magnificent paranoiac sight of the picturesque countryside. During the time of the civil war between 1936-1939, a path was made by the republicans, which are used to as an entry way to the cave by the visitors today. Inside the cave awaits the spectacular exhibit of rocks such as the stalagmites and the stalactites. The lighting inside the cave focuses on the various shapes of the rocks. And speaking of shapes, you are in for a surprise for sure.

If you are looking for adventures under the sea then the submarine trips are just the thing for you. This will give you a chance to observe the wonderful marine lives. This is something you would not want to miss.

For a day at a theme park with the whole family, Aqualandia Water Park offers verities of fun activities. Little children would love to spend the day at the Funnyland, a park inside the park that is heavily influenced by popular cartoon characters. Thrill seekers need not work as there is something for them as well. At the adrenaline area you would find the Spacemaker, the tallest water slide in the world. For those daredevils there is the Bungee Jumping area where you get to jump off a 60 meter tower.

If you wish to spend the day in the midst of an actual garden, then Cactuslandia is the place you need to go. Do not let the name fool you. The name may suggest that it is a Cactus heaven, but here you will find verities of tropical plants and trees. That would be quite a change from the concrete garden to an actual garden.

From adrenaline rush adventure to ambiance, Benidorm has it all. SO do not miss out on your vacation of a lifetime.
