The Best Group Accommodation Option in Glasgow by Julia Roger

Article published on July 27th 2012 | Travel

Planning for a group outing? There are numerous destinations within United Kingdom to head for. However, some of these destinations are more attractive than rest of the ones available. Glasgow is one of the most beautiful destinations within UK. It is situated within the boundaries of Scotland. It is also the largest city within Scotland. Considered to be a beautiful and historic city, it is visited by thousands of tourists from different parts of the world every calendar year. Quality group accommodation glasgow is very common. Weekends are normally filed with young adult and bachelor crowds.

In fact, it is the weekends when stag as well as hen parties are arranged within this beautiful city. With plenty of entertainment options to avail, Glasgow becomes a party paradise for bachelors. Not only does the city enjoy vibrant and hip-hop nights, but there are plenty of exciting activities to enjoy during day. Rafting through the heart of River Clyde is really an experience of lifetime that no one will want to give a miss.

When visiting this city in a large group, hostels may well be an affordable lodging option to avail. However, the only problem that can be faced is common toilet to share. Yes, group hostels normally does not feature attach bathroom. This may well be an irritating factor to consider. However, there is also another lodging option to avail while travelling in groups of 10 to 12 members. It is hiring a private bungalow or villa. There are several fully furnished bungalows available within different areas of Glasgow. They can well be the best option to avail for those who want complete privacy with extreme luxury and comfort. Rental charges of such villas/bungalows may well be around Â£ 80 per day. For one or two person, it may be quite an expensive rate. However, when the group consists of 10 to 12 individuals, the rate gets equally divided among them. As a result, it becomes much cheaper.
