Ski in La Plagne, Ski in Menuires, Ski in Tignes – add thrill to your holiday

It's time to enjoy the snow and ski in the Alps! Get together with friends and plan a skiing or snowboard holiday in France. Not able to plan in advance, challenged by a limited holiday budget or can't decide where to go for a break? You can choose from a variety of resorts and a range of holiday rental accommodation, last minute offers and budget rentals. A ski holiday in France is a great option for young people to get away from a hectic work life, alone or with a group of friends who share a sense of adventure.

There are a number of reasons why France is one of the most popular European destinations for ski holidays. The French Alpine landscape and the terrific ski resorts offer holiday makers the quintessential charm and character of France and its people. Some of the top destinations to enjoy skiing in France are Tignes, La Plagne and Menuires. You can find every kind of winter sports activity and levels here – for beginners, extreme, off-piste, snowboarding and other off-slope adventure. Throw in some delectable French cuisine and exciting after-ski parties, and you'll find there's no place like France for a ski getaway.

Take Your Pick – A Ski Chalet or Ski Apartment Rental in France?

Ski chalet accommodation can make a memorable holiday. France has luxurious chalets or ski cottages where one can experience the typical charm and character, and of course, the delicious cuisine that France is famous for. The French Alps are home to thousands of ski chalets and if you prefer a relaxed, informal skiing holiday, a catered ski chalet holiday is a very popular option.

Some of the chalets are wonderfully ski-in, ski-out – you can literally ski to and from the front door, with the nearest piste being mere yards away.

Chalets have a fun and sociable feel and most are geared for entertainment, with comfy lounge areas, board games, Internet, TV and DVD player.

Chalets can be budget options or fully kitted with all the amenities and comforts of home like fireplace, sauna, hot tub, washing machine and dishwasher.

Good food is an essential part of a ski holiday. Talented chefs capable of producing modern and traditional cuisine to tantalize your taste buds can also cook to your likes and expectations, rarely sticking to a fixed menu plan.

Luxury ski chalets often provide a range of delicious wines throughout your stay, including well-known, as well as interesting lesser-known labels.

Ski apartments in France provide value for money accommodation. France has a massive selection of ski apartments in some of the best resorts, ranging from 2 star to luxury 5 star so there is something to suit all budgets. Many of the apartments offer pools, spas and extras such as bread delivery.

You can take your pick from accommodation-only apartments to added value package deals; including various travel options, ski and snowboard equipment hire, ski lift passes, ski school, ski insurance and spa treatments.

â€¢ Many ski resorts in France have accommodation in attractive buildings and have converted town houses into flats; with amenities like child care, log fires, hot tubs, Internet access and much more.

â€¢ In the modern ski apartments in France, the kitchen/dining area is fully equipped with oven, hob, toaster, microwave, kettle and all the cooking/eating utensils you need.

â€¢ If you like the convenience and novelty of skiing to your door you can check out the options for ski-in ski-out apartments and apartments located near ski lifts.

â€¢ If it's a last minute decision when you need confirmed accommodation in France, discount apartments can be an attractive option. Look for some great ski apartments in Tignes, La Plagne and Menuires.
