France is a popular ski destination for beginners and experienced skiers. What Ski Accommodation in France sometimes lacks in alpine charm, it more than makes up for in varied skiing from beginner slopes to ski tours and sensational off-piste. Ski Accommodation in France is not cheap, but it tends to be cheaper than other Alpine countries. France Ski Accommodation has more scale and as such more capacity driving prices down, especially outside peak season. Whichever Ski Chalet you choose as your Ski Accommodation, throughout your stay you'll enjoy fabulous food prepared by a private chef, from cooked breakfasts, freshly-baked cakes and canapÃ©s, to four or five-course gourmet dinner served.

Ski Accommodation in France is mostly purpose-built around the ski slopes with direct access. Many Ski Holiday Apartments and Ski Chalets are ski-out and ski-in something most other ski countries lack. Recent trends also seen greater investment in other forms of Ski Accommodation such as luxury hotels and Catered Ski Chalets. Ski accommodation in France is no more dominated by self-catering apartments.

As far as Ski Accommodation is concerned, one should of course never forget the trusted old guest house. This is the most personal of all the options and many friendships have been formed around the breakfast table at one of these establishments.
