FATbit Technologies - Strikes the Right Chords with Attractive Web Designs by Rajneesh

Article published on June 18th 2012 | Web Design

Web design companies are always on a lookout for techniques and tricks that could help them make more tempting designs for their clients. The idea is that clients want their customers to spend as much time as they can on their websites and this is only possible when their websites are cool as well as engaging. Desire to possess tempting designs is universal and the same sow seeds for some silly experiments. Here, you will know how to make your web designs appealing without worrying about risks. So, here we go.

Graphics and Displays

There is nothing more awe inspiring than a great graphics usage. Distinguished website design companies often use graphics as a mean to connect with its clients. Big brands have a special penchant for using glamorous graphics and displays to catch the imagination of its customers. But there is a point of caution here; be wary of over usage. Too much graphics and displays can increase the load time of the website by phenomenal levels. So, make sure you draw the line.

Focus on Common Elements

There are a number of fields in a website that usually donâ€™t receive required attention from designing point of view. One such page could be site map. Site map receives the least amount of attention from designers when it comes to creativity. This is one area where one can surprise visitors by doing a little makeup here and there. In case of websites dealing with consumer products, lists sometimes turn out to be pretty boring one. Luxury brand Dior occasionally makes changes in this field probably after paying heed to the opinions of its â€˜best website design companyâ€™.

Advertisements

Advertisements are the biggest turn off in a website. They pop up from unknown places, irritate by asking to â€˜clickâ€™ here & there and nowadays even stretch themselves to cover the content you have been reading carefully. Sure making money is also important but why pester visitor for whom the advertisement is there at the first place? The idea is to evolve an advertisement method that doesnâ€™t bother customers. Advertisements know their place in websites like Facebook and Reddit; wouldnâ€™t it be great to arrange something similar for your platform? Trust me, even website development firms would agree on this.

Color Schemes

Color schemes have to be according to the overall feel and message of the website. Business of the website has to be kept in mind while choosing the scheme of colors. Apart from this, there has to be a sequence in the arrangement. And no eye straining colors please; they just make going through the content a mammoth effort. Website Development Companies, from time to time, have asserted that color schemes make a great difference and too loud could do great damage indeed.

In addition to the above discussed points, there are great many points that can be used to enhance the â€˜wowâ€™ quotient of a website. The idea is to keep looking and integrating the same to reap long term benefits.
