When you are thinking outdoor wedding planning then several things you should have to need to keep in mind like weather, wedding venue, seating arrangement and lighting. This is the important factor through which you can make unique and best wedding planning. Given below are some important tips for making wonderful outdoor wedding planning.

Weather : Weather is the one of the most important factor of outdoor wedding because if weather will be bad on the occasion of wedding day then it will be vary bed. You never know when it could rain or snow - weather can play spoilsport and ruin all your wedding decorations. So an outdoor wedding needs to be planned in perfect season so that all guests of your feel happy and also you need to take all the precautions to protect the weddings location from rough weather. For instance, if your marriage date is set during the monsoon and the day is cloudy, you can have the ceremony outdoors, and the reception indoors.

Venue for wedding : Another important part of outdoor wedding is the right venue and it should be according number of guest list. Suppose you are planning wedding in park, you need to make sure the venue is not too small or even too many your guest list. While hunting options for a destination wedding venue, the sky is the limit. The wedding place can be a beach, park and hill.

Arrangement for seating : You have to pay more attention for seating arrangement. You should have to bring number of chair according guest and also take care abut table decoration so that guest will feel be relax for taking meal.

Perfect Lighting : Lighting is the important factor for destination wedding. You obviously don't want to get married in the sun light, nor do you want to walk the aisle in darkness where you can almost not see each other's faces. In case if you donâ€™t want to invest much money then you can use temporary shelters, which are not only protective but also decorative.

Accessories and Add-ons : Some of the important thing which is necessary you should have like Too many flowers, too much flowing material might ruin the effect. Pick up elegant and trouble-free furniture that will blend in with the surroundings.

In outdoor wedding, natural thing is very useful for making memorable wedding like moonlight, the bright stars, the soothing breeze or the green surroundings; the beauty of nature is superb without any extra decorations.
