The planning for your wedding is so important not to forget the people you would like to be present at your wedding and all the information necessary amount of time to have a perfect holiday should be granted. In this age of high technology where we can send instant communication, every part of the wedding stationery is something we can send by e-mail or voice mail. Even the most modern wedding ceremony still requires wedding stationery, of course.

Wedding Stationery is typically printed with specific information about the date of marriage, people are interested and much more. To customize your map and you have before your wedding shop.

Traditional Wedding Invitation Vs E-Wedding Invitations

Pros of Traditional Wedding Invitations

Traditional wedding invitations are printed on paper beautiful and have the advantage of a physical object to be held, admired, and maybe even kept and framed. The style of your wedding invitation, called a theme, colors, and the degree of formality, with the anticipation of the ceremony and reception details.

Pros of Sending E-Wedding Invitations

E-wedding invitations have the particular advantage of being sent virtually, freeing up your budget and reducing paper waste that a traditional wedding invitation would create. Your wedding invitation will be delivered immediately after the mouse click on the exact day you specify. You can easily upload a photo, type information call, and include extras like a map.

Cons of Sending Traditional Wedding Invitations

Always take a risk to send important documents through the mail. A portion of your traditional wedding invitations could get lost in the mail, or wedding invitations can be damaged or torn during processing. Although these cases do not occur often, it is possible, because the save date announcements are helpful if the caller does not receive a wedding invitation and may ask why. Also, if you are concerned about the environment, paper wedding invitations might not be the best format for you.

Cons of Sending E-Wedding Invitations

E-wedding invitations and provides instant gratification, with no major problems. First, not everyone has an email account or access the Internet, particularly for older people. In addition, e-wedding invitation can easily be redirected to a spam folder and not treated by the recipient. E-mail can be easily discarded and forgotten, which makes the work more with the date approaches and you need to send more invitations require a response.
