Wedding is considered as the special occasion of oneâ€™s life. Both, groom and the bride try their level best to make their nuptial ceremony memorable and everlasting experience. They try to do all the things in different way that are associated with their nuptial, and wedding invitations are not exceptional. Young couples always prefer to go for unique and contemporary invitations especially if they plan for modern and up-to-date marriage style. Today you will come across with various online stationary stores offering contemporary and unique wedding invitations online. Invitations play a crucial role in every marriage because they set the tone for the nuptial theme.

Marriage is an occasion that we celebrate along with our close family members and friends. The very first thing that you need to plan out is the invitations through which you will announce about your big day. Invitations offer an idea about the marriage theme and also remind the invited guests about the big day of your life. So, to help you here are few examples of unique and contemporary wedding invitations ideas that you may consider.

Fancy Fold Wedding Cards

These contemporary cards always remain the top choice of the young couples. These cards are designed with three interesting folds and come with some appealing designs. These cards also have a red satin ribbon that is fixed at the rear of the card to make a design of a bow. With these cards you have the opportunity to imprint the details of your nuptial ceremony on one side and photos of the couples on the other side. These cards are available in a variety of designs like simple folds, diet cuts and multiple folds.

Jacket Style Wedding Invites

As the name suggest, these types of cards are available with sophisticated designed folded covers called as jackets. These covers clutch the cards perfectly and a satin ribbon is fixed on the envelope that is used to tie the jacket. Mainly two types of jacket style invites are available - first is the die cut style where the interior of the fold partly covers the other and in the second design the cover open either on the bottom or on the top.

Bow Tied Invitations

If you are looking for a unique and appealing invitation for your big day then you may select bow tied invites. These cards are not only appealing but look like a gift too. There is a style available in bow tied cards that resembles a scroll and a satin ribbon is used to tie the card. There are also other styles available where the ribbons are tied through the areas that are cut by using a die. These cards are quite expensive than all other cards available. But, they are very unique and appealing than other invitations.

Remember, contemporary and appealing wedding invitations expose the personal style and taste of the couples. So, it is very important to utilize topnotch print and stationery for the invites of your big day. By using multimedia technology you can even create your own invitations as per your preferences and tastes by using your creativity.
